HAS HE MURDERED HIS SON?

Fireman James Gray, Dying, Savs His Father Stabbed Him.

An old man, upon whom may be placed the fearful accusation of murdering his own son, was arraigned before Justice O'Reilly in the The prisoner's name is Patrick Gray, fifty-one years old, a coal heaver, living at 510 West Twenty-eignth street. He was charged with stationg his son, James Gray, in the left breast, just below the beart.

The affray took place last night, about 10 n'elock, in the elder Gray's home, and to-day the son hes in a semi-unconscious condition in Bellevue Hospital. His death is hourly expected by the surgeons in charge, and when these facts were reported to Justice O'Heilly the old father was remanded to await the re-solt of the son's injuries. MOLI Gray is a giant in statute, with a hard, seared face and blue eyes. He was fully aware of the seriousness of his position, and his lips trembled as he told THE EVENING WORLD reporter this version of the row:

"The two of 'em, Tommy and Jimmy, (both hie sons,) had been drinking hard all day yes-

PIANOS AND ORGANS. Beethoven Redivivus.

In olden days people had to put up with a box atriags called a spines, or clavicherd, or harpsichord, and that was so much the worse for them. Could any one of the uid masters revisit these scenes now his pulse would quicken and his flogers tingle to play upon a modern plane, perfect in all its parts. He cannot do that, but you may, and you will find that the KMERSON PIANO is the wery instrument that the renerable Becthoren would have been delighted with.
